Noteworthy News

Recommended Video: Cummings Center's existence can be attributed to many people, but foremost among them is Jamie McKeown. The late president of Cummings Properties, Jamie advocated for and then led our firm's purchase of the then-derelect United Shoe Machinery Corporation's former world headquarters in Beverly in 1996. Tragically, Jamie died later that year, at the age of 41.

Jamie has been remembered in a number of ways since his passing, including through the naming of Beverly's James McKeown Elementary School. Many more people will now have an opportunity to learn about Jamie's significant legacy through a touching new video, created by Cummings Foundation for the newly built-and newly renamed-McKeown Boys & Girls Club of Woburn.

Please feel free to share the video link so others can learn about Jamie's substantial impact in Greater Boston. The video will likely be of special interest to anyone who came to know Jamie through Bill Cummings' new book, Starting Small and Making It Big. An Entrepreneur's Journey to Billion-Dollar Philanthropist.

Friendly Reminders

No Soliciting! Although they are never 100 percent effective, "No Solicitation" door signs often deter unwanted solicitors. To obtain one of these signs, please contact your account manager, who will be happy to have a Cummings Center representative affix one to your door. The best way to dispense with unwanted solicitors is to request a business card, then ask them to leave. Pass the business card along to your account manager, and he or she will contact the soliciting firm and formally request that it stop visiting Cummings Center buildings.
